

social impact 360

MENTORSHIP FOR STUDENT SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURS

Who are we?

Since 2010 the program has been inspiring college students to apply their entrepreneurial mindsets to solve the world's greatest problems.

Over their freshmen year our fellows engage in intensive weekly training, led by student mentors, to create their own ventures. Through our network of campuses around the country and 1,000 alumni from leading universities, we support students in becoming values-driven leaders ready to address the world's most pressing issues.

Four values are at the core of our community and our actions:

Participate
proactively

Think adventurously

Commit unreasonably

Live
consciously

Where are we currently?

- American University • Boston College • Duke University • Emory University • Fairfield University
- Fordham University • The George Washington University • Georgetown University
- Howard University • Indiana University • Tufts University • University of Pennsylvania

What does a partner university receive?

1. Curriculum Access

The Social Impact 360 curriculum at each school engages 15 freshmen fellows and five mentors each year, selected through rigorous individual and group interviews. We offer weekly curriculum materials, activities, and resources to support each school's mentors in guiding the fellowship.

2. Membership In Our National Network

All SI360 community members are able to connect with students at other schools within their region and around the country. We provide free tickets for all fellows, mentors, and regional leaders to attend our two-day annual national conference and connect with social impact leaders through small group workshops, panels, and speakers.

3. Invitations To Regional Events

Each region has a robust SI360 community with frequent entrepreneurship and social events, including boot camps, capstone programming, and social activities.

4. Speaker Network and Job Opportunities

All SI360 community members have access to our community of supporters from leading local, national, and international organizations as well as successful entrepreneurs. Our extensive professional and impact-oriented partnerships provide mentorship as well as job and internship opportunities.

5. Mentor Training And Fellow Recruitment Support

We provide national training for mentors as well as regional support. Mentor teams have access to extensive resources they can flexibly employ to recruit an outstanding fellow class each year.

6. Student Venture Support

SI360 community members receive exclusive resources to strengthen their entrepreneurial experiences, including access to leading business growth programs and mentorship opportunities. A few examples include one-on-one mentoring from Deloitte, $2,500 venture funding grants from the Kenneth Cole Foundation, and special consideration for fellowships with social impact leader Echoing Green.

What is the selection criteria for becoming a partner university?

1. Value Alignment

We look for universities with campus-wide commitment to social impact and innovation where students and faculty alike hope to create an ecosystem conducive to values-oriented leadership.

2. Student Interest

SI360 students are passionate about social impact-oriented innovation and applying the entrepreneurial approach to social change. We want to be present at all universities where students believe that SI360 either fulfills unmet gaps in education and programming or strengthens existing ones.

3. Administration/Faculty Support

A member of the administration or faculty should be available to provide a few hours of weekly of support as needed, particularly during the launch year.

4. Financial Commitment

Thanks to the generosity of our corporate partners and individual donors, our programming is highly subsidized. We request $10,000 a year from each partner university as well as a modest program fee from each fellow, and we provide need-based financial aid.